BLINKY MORGAN

The Second, One of a Gang of Post-Office Robbers Shot While Resisting Arrest.

Toledo, O., March 9.—Three men, suspected of robbing the postoffice at Continental, O., were arrested at Lima after a running fight with the police, in which citizens assisted the officers. William Morgan, known as "Blinky Morgan, the second," was located in a Southside saloon, and when the officers attempted to arrest him, pulled a revolver and fired. He made his escape by a rear door. The police gave chase.

Two boys opened fire with shotguns, and the third shot brought Morgan down. He was terribly injured and was taken to the police station covered with blood. The safe at the Continental office was blown, $44 in money and $50 in stamps taken. Morgan's partners, Joe King and James Smith, were caught with Morgan.

BASE BALL

DENISON PROMISES TO HAVE A GOOD TEAM.

Partial Schedule for Season is Announced—Philpot Not With the Team This Year.

Granville, O., March 9.—The prospect for Denison having a good base ball team, as proficient, if not better, than that of last year, are exceedingly bright. The absence of Captain Mark Winchester, who graduated last year, is in itself an irreparable loss. Denison has also lost her pitcher, Philpot, of last year and all her outfield.

But the abundance of new material which came in this year already gives signs of the very best base ball. All the old infield is back. Cherney will also be missed in the box, but Chambers and Leasch, with a good man behind the plate, bid fair to uphold the excellent record of last year's battery.

A complete prospectus will not be given until the close of this term or the beginning of the spring term, when things will have taken a thoroughly organized shape. In the meantime assiduous practice is being followed each afternoon.

The following is the schedule, so far as Manager Whallon can report definitely:

April 24, Ohio University at Granville.
April 25, Open.
May 2, Muskingum at New Concord.
May 2, O. W. U. at Delaware.
May 8 or 9, Kenyon at Gambier.
May 15, Muskingum at Granville.
May 16, Open.
May 20, Western Reserve at Granville.
May 22, West Virginia at Granville.
May 23, Case at Cleveland.
May 25, Muncie Ind.) semi-professionals at Muncie.
May 26 or 27, Chicago University at Chicago.
May 30, (2) West Virginia at Morgantown.
June 6, Case at Granville.
June 8, (Field Day), Oberlin at Granville, probably.
June 9—Kenyon at Granville.
June 10, Alumni at Granville.
June 11, O. W. U. at Granville.
It is hoped that a game may be arranged with O. S. U. for May 16.

ANSWERS

IN ADVOCATE REBUS CONTEST ARE COMING IN.

Not Yet Too Late to Enter—Boys and Girls Have All Week to Solve the Puzzles.

Already many boys and girls have submitted their solutions of the Advocate rebuses and the 100 word articles written about one of the ten business firms that were pictured in these columns but there is yet plenty of time for all the boys and girls to participate in the contest even if they have not as yet solved a single puzzle.

Saturday's Advocate contained a complete list of the pictures. If you failed to cut out the page do so yet, or if you know of any boy or girl under 18 years of age who would like to enter the contest, send him or her to the Advocate office. Extra papers have been printed to supply the demand. The boys and girls have until next Saturday night at 7 o'clock to submit their answers.

Remember it costs nothing to enter the contest and everybody has an equal chance. The answer that is submitted at 7 o'clock next Saturday night will have the same chance to win a prize as did the first answer that came in last Saturday. Every contestant must put down his name and age and the address should be attached to the 100 word article. Judges will take into consideration the age of the boys and girls in the contest. The little folks have as good a chance as the older ones.

The cash prizes are $5, $3 and $2. The judges will not know contestants' names when they examine the 100 word essays and make the awards. Don't make your article longer than 100 words. It may be shorter if you desire.

Get Saturday's Advocate if you have not already done so, solve the rebus and then write 100 words or less about any one of the ten firms. You may receive one of the prizes.

Another series of rebuses will be commenced in the Advocate within a few days.

Small Strike.

A small strike occurred at the Wehrle company's new plant Monday morning, when eight men quit work because their demand for an increase in wages from $1.35 to $1.50 per day was refused. It seems that the eight men who quit work were doing concrete work on the foundations for the new buildings, for which they were paid $1.35 per day. They claim that a number of boys who were employed in piling brick were given the same wages. They considered concrete work worth more money and struck.

TO THE MAYOR

Prominent Women Pleaded Guilty of Disorderly Conduct and Paid a Fine.

Marysville, O., March 9.—Police went to the home of Mrs. Dollie Price, Sunday and arrested here, Mrs. Frank Mills, a prominent society woman and leading soprano singer in the Congregational choir, and Raiph Tyrrell and Stephen Cuddihy, on a charge of disorderly conduct and of having disturbed the peace. The affidavit was issued by Walter Weber, who lives in the house with Mrs. Price. They all pleaded guilty before Mayor Hamilton and paid a fine.

The affair created a big sensation here, owing to the prominence of the women. Mrs. Mills' husband works in Columbus.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling home of Swamp-Root, all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonials received from sufferers cured. A BILLION AND A HALF CONGRESS

The Congress which has just adjourned appropriated over $1,500,000,000 from the national treasury for the support of the government for two years. This is twice the amount expended by the government ten years ago.

It is a vast increase over the government expenses during the Spanish war. It is more than four times as much as was expended during the civil war, when the cost of the armies in the field was a million dollars a day.

When Speaker Reed was reproached with the fact that the Congress in which he was "czar" was "billion dollar Congress," he replied that "this is a billion dollar country." It might now be described as a country of billion dollar trusts.

This rate of public expenditure cannot go on forever. Under the apparently illimitable prosperity of the country there lurks always the danger of panic, disaster and bankruptcy. If this condition shall be precipitated it will be caused mainly by the fact that the money of the people is being withdrawn from the uses of legitimate business by the enormous accumulations of hundreds of millions of dollars as "surplus" in the national treasury.

If the powers that be are wise they will take in sail before the storm comes, but there do not appear to be any signs at present that this prudent policy will be adopted.

The President's reappointment of the colored man at Charleston, whose previous appointment the Senate had refused to confirm, raises the question that he is determined to force the Senate to acquiesce in his selection. This will still further intensify the race issue at the South. The Charleston people are opposed to the appointment, and have so expressed themselves. It is the unwritten law to consult local sentiment in making such an appointment; but the President forces an objectionable appointment on the people most concerned about the office and having most to do with it. In reality he is who raises the race question by insisting on a negro. The new Senate may confirm the appointment under executive pressure. If he wanted the negro to have a Federal office why not appoint him to one at the capital or in the North? The agitation of the race issue is not to be wondered at in the circumstances of this Charleston case.

The news that Rear Admiral Arent Schuyler Crowninshield (pronounced Crunshell) has applied for retirement, with increased pay, will no doubt be received with equanimity and the consolation that it is probably worth the price. The most notable incidents of his forty years of service were the prosecution of Admiral Schley upon the infamous and unfounded accusations of Maclay and Potts and the running around of his first flagship, the battleship Illinois, while cruising in a European port.

When the time comes for the Democrats to assemble in national convention they will select a candidate for the presidency and will formulate a platform of principles. Meantime no man is commissioned to say what will be done, although every man may say what he thinks ought to be done at that convention.

Senator Aldrich complains that a small number of men in the Senate deliberately and with malice aforethought murdered the financial bill bearing his name. Come to think of it, that is what a small number of senators, among whom was Aldrich, did to the statehood bill.

MACEDONIAN QUESTION

Professor Arminius Vambery's Views on the Subject.

SULTAN A FRIEND OF PROGRESS.

Abdul Hamid's Private Adviser Tells How His Sovereign Is Handicapped. Discussing the Eastern Question. He Says the Sultan, Rather Than Lose Macedonia, Will Fight to Defend His Property.

Professor Arminius Vambery, writing in the Vienna Pester Lloyd on the Macedonian question, says: "It is, then, reforms—serious reforms—which the interested European powers propose as a remedy, and the question is, how far will these reforms be applicable, and is Turkey willing or able to carry them out? The latter has been a priori denied, and the sultan is represented by some as adverse, to all reforms and a declared enemy of all innovations—nay, as a Mohammedan fanatic. I may say, on the strength of a personal intercourse with the Sultan Abdul Hamid of many years' duration, that he is emphatically a friend of progress, but that his efforts are handicapped by the ethnic and social conditions of his people on the one side and by his own excess of caution and a certain indecision on the other. He wishes to do everything himself. This alone has ruined more than one promising measure, and his not always justified mistrust has done the rest, but the man has the best intentions, and, though there have been failures in consequence of his strong absolutist tendencies, it would be unjust to doubt his wish for reforms. The financial misery of the country, the hidden and open animosity of the west, greatly contribute to the deplorable conditions in Turkey, nor can it be expected that the reform measures to be enforced will have a particularly favorable result.

"It is not reforms, but autonomy, and, later on, complete severance from the Ottoman empire, that the Christian population of Macedonia is aiming at, and the whole world is rightly curious to know whether Turkey will yield or whether she will defend her property by force of arms. I believe the latter will be the case, especially if it is true that for the execution of the reforms to be demanded a fixed term will be imposed. Such a term could hardly be observed, and the result would needs be a solution of the Macedonian question by war. We are undoubtedly on the eve of great complications. The Turkish army, whose gallantry nobody doubts, is under all circumstances a match for the forces of the Balkan countries, but the question is, Will the interested European powers quietly look on when the sultan's Christian subjects are sent home with broken heads, and will not the situation be made worse by intervention? As the answer to this question mainly depends on the compact between Russia and Austria-Hungary it can only be hoped that time will be given to Turkey to continue uninterrupted with the reforms she has initiated and that the control the powers seek to exercise will be a mild one. At any rate, people in Constantinople are fully aware of the critical situation, and it is being earnestly dealt with, because the loss of Macedonia would be the deathblow to Turkish rule in Europe. As Sultan Abdul Hamid is not one of those rulers who bring dangers upon their country by rash action the further development of events depends exclusively on the will of the two European powers.

"The time has not yet come for the final solution of the eastern question, because the work of solving the great problem, which extends not only over the near east, but over the whole of Asia and Europe as well, has barely begun, and it would be injurious and even criminal to enforce its premature solution and thus throw half of the world into blood and fire." If there is one man in Europe who is able to grasp the eastern question in its entirety, it is Professor Vambery, says the London Standard's Vienna correspondent. In saying that the sultan, if afraid of otherwise losing Macedonia, will not doubt repenting what his majesty himself has told or written to him. The professor has been the sultan's private adviser on matters of great importance for many years. The sultan is in the habit of sending for him, or writing to him through his first secretary, whenever he is in doubt or in trouble, and if M. Vambery says the sultan will not yield to undue pressure, but rather go to war, it may be taken for granted that he has the best authority for the statement. Russia and Austria-Hungary may, for all I know, be animated by the best intentions, and that may especially be the case with Austria, but they are playing with fire and their neighbors are sharing in the danger. As the two powers have asked the rest of Europe for support, it lies with the countries thus appealed to to counsel moderation and to preach prudence. When the whole of Europe was infuriated by the Armenian massacres, when Abdul Hamid was called a criminal in a public speech in England, and his deposition had been suggested, it was Russia which dissented, on the ground that the peace of the world was too dear to her. Why should Europe now assist Russia in starting the partition of Turkey in the Russian interest? It is for Europe now to say "No."

TRYING TO KEEP THE MISSISSIPPI WITHIN BOUNDS

[Special Correspondence.] St. Louis, March 3.—The many reports of local floods on streams tributary to the Mississippi river, coming as they do much earlier in the year than usual, have led old river men to fear that a grave calamity is impending and that when the swollen streams combine in a mad rush down the Mississippi the damage to property and the destruction of life will be enormous.

There is always more or less havoc wrought by the spring floods, but it is conceded that of late years the damage done has been greatly lessened by the progress made in regulating the flow of the water and in improving the navigable channels always to be found in the Mississippi.

This work is in the hands of what is known as the Mississippi river commission, which came into being as long ago as 1879, and which has ever since been trying to improve river conditions. The present head of the commission is Colonel Ames Stickney of the engineer corps of the United States army, who was at one time chief executive of the Missouri river commission. The commission's offices are in this city and it is wholly under the control of the war department. Already more than $43,500,000 has been expended.

In brief, what the commission is trying to do is to regulate the flow of the great river, and the difficulty of doing this will be realized when it is stated that there is a difference at times of as much as fifty feet between the high water and the low water level. When the high water mark is reached, thousands of miles of land adjacent to the river banks are flooded.

There are three leading theories upon which it has been proposed to operate in effecting the much desired result. These theories are respectively termed the levee and jetty system, the outlet system and the reservoir system. The first of these is also termed the restrictive system, and it is the one which the commission has decided will give the best results. The difficulties attending all three systems are very great, however, chiefly owing to the fact that it is the tendency of the mighty river to follow the line of least resistance. It is this tendency which requires constant combating and, incidentally, the annual expenditure of large sums of money.

What is especially discouraging is the fact that the river continually makes cut-offs—that is to say, it breaks through the narrow necks around which it runs in winding curves. When this occurs, the whole course of the channel is changed, sometimes in a single night, and a circuit of many miles is replaced by a straight line of a mile or so, great damage resulting to the territory affected.

To prevent these cut offs the commission supplements its reventments, extending far out into the river by huge dams, and of recent years these reventments and dams have been of great service in preventing the much dreaded cut offs.

The commission operates on the theory that if the water could all be forced to run through strictly defined limits, it would carry off its own sediment by the power of its own flow and would thus "scour out" a channel free of obstructions. It was on the strength of this idea mainly that Captain Ends built his famous jetties below New Orleans and certainly the jetties have made a marked improvement in that harbor. But the theory itself failed in demonstration, for the river, instead of flowing with increased force between the restrictions, followed its old habit and strayed off into other passes of the delta, so that for a number of years the channel between the jetties has only been maintained by the constant use of powerful dredging machines. The Mississippi river commission has had the same experience, and it, too, has had to keep mammoth dredges in operation. With their aid, however, marked improvement in conditions has been the result.

The second great theory, the outlet theory, is the exact opposite of the above. It operates on the belief that the proper thing to do is to withdraw all barriers and let the surplus waters brought down by the spring floods pass away as quickly as possible, the contention being that it is absolutely impossible to keep the river within bounds.

The third theory, the reservoir system, has fewer advocates than either of the others. It is essentially the Chinese method of confining the surplus water of flood seasons in great natural or artificial basins and liberating it as it is needed in times of drought.

THE W. C. T. U.

Tuesday, March 3, the devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Sisson, who read the lesson from the 6th chapter of First Corinthians, "Ye are not your own, for ye are bought with a price; therefore, loving God in your body and in your spirit, which are God's," Mrs. Sisson chose for her subject, "Ye are not your own," and she brought out many impressive thoughts—closing with prayer. A business meeting followed, during which time the monthly reports of officers and superintendents were given, showing good work in the different departments.

The solicitors of rescue work reported they were still receiving donations and monthly subscriptions for the Licking County Rescue Home. Mrs. Teeter, local superintendent of that department, reported that the Licking County W. C. T. U. Rescue Home is under the control of a board of managers as follows: President, Mrs. Jennie P. Sisson, Newark; vice president, Mrs. N. L. Knowlton, Granville; secretary, Mrs. Margaret Gridley, Newark; treasurer, Mrs. B. F. Patt, Newark; chairman of house committee, Mrs. E. Evans, household committee, Mrs. Watson. Admission and dismission committee not yet appointed. An advisory board as follows: Mrs. Anna W. Clark, Columbus, state president; Mrs. Lucy E. Van Kirk, of Granville, county president; Mrs. Julia Brook, president of Pataskala union; Mrs. J. M. Jones, president of Granville union; Mrs. Fannie Thompson, president of Alexandria union.

All things being favorable this home will open March 18. Mother Prindle, of Chicago, has been chosen matron. A fuller notice will be given in regard to opening day.

The doors of this home will never be closed, day or night to any girl who is tired of sin and wants a home under the control of Christian influence and she will be taught some useful occupation.

Tomorrow being the birthday of the national president, Mrs. Lillian M. Stevens, Mrs. Hare, superintendent of the setting as to do away with any red letter days, is arranging a grand program. All are cordially invited.

These meetings are held every Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Methodist church.

AMUSEMENTS.

Haverley's Mastodon Minstrels carries more scenery than any other similar organization on the road. The first part setting bids fair to eclipse anything of its kind ever attempted before in this country, and is by Moses & Hamilton, of New York, and represents a Venetian water scene, showing the gondoliers carrying serenaders through the beautiful waters of ancient Venice, and a new departure with mechanical lighting effects of an indescribable nature. When the drop curtain first ascends, a picture of unique beauty strikes the eye. The auditor forgets the stage and only sees the effect in general. The scene has been so arranged in conjunction with the mechanical part of the setting as to do away with any red letter days, is arranging a grand program. All are cordially invited.

George Morgan, the world's greatest minstrel; contralto, direct from Moore & Burgess' Minstrels, St. James Hall, London, England; John S. Roland, basso profundo, late of the Bostonians; Charles Richards, the wonderful boy baritone, and Frances W. Sutherland, "The Sousa" of minstrel band masters. A vocal corps of twenty and an orchestra of fifteen, in fact a company of half a hundred artists. Auditorium Wednesday night, March 11.

OPENING

Of New Shoe Store of Wise & Hammond at 40 North Third Street, Next to Weiant's.

Although handicapped by the disagreeable weather conditions, the opening of the Wise & Hammond shoe store, at 40 North Third street, next to Weiant's bakery, Saturday, was an unqualified success.

These gentlemen are well known in Newark and have a wide acquaintance in the county. Mr. L. J. Wise has recently been with Cliff Sturgeon as a clerk in the grocery business, but for 20 years was in business in Alexandria. W. H. Hammond also had a successful business career in Alexandria, and was later a salesman at the store of Ed Doe.

The new store will always keep on hand a full line of the best footwear, and customers will receive courteous treatment and the best of satisfaction.

ON CAKE OF ICE

Four Lorain Lads Were Carried Two Miles Into the Lake Before Rescued by Boats.

Lorain, O., March 9.—Four boys, Erwin Warren, Willis Gore, Frank and Tom Platt, were carried out on the lake on a large cake of ice, and but for the timely help of a party of rescuers would have met certain death.

The boys were playing on the ice, when the stiff southwest wind moved it away from the shore. The boys called steadily for help and their cries being heard, Wm. Lee and Daniel Hart launched an old row boat and put out to their rescue.

They were overtaken nearly a mile from shore and landed safely by the boat. When overtaken, the boys were preparing to take to the water and swim to the shore, which would doubtless have proved a fatal move. The ice was being driven lakeward at a six-mile-an-hour rate.

D. C. SMYTHE

Son of Gen. Smythe and Brother of B. G. Smythe, Passed Away on Monday Morning.

Douglass C. Smythe, aged 45 years, died at his room at Mrs. Susan Pfeiffer's boarding house, 19 Front street, at 5:15 o'clock Monday morning, after an illness that extended over a period of years, with consumption.

The deceased was born in Newark and was a son of the late General George B. Smythe. The most of his life was spent in this city where he was very well known.

Two years ago while attending to some farming interests in North Carolina, he became so ill that he was brought back to Newark, and since that time he has been confined to the house most of the time. Three weeks ago the disease took an acute form and his death was hastened.

Douglass Smythe was a man of very superior intelligence, supplemented with a good general education. His manner was that of the true gentleman, and all who knew him were his friends. His sufferings were borne with a stoical fortitude, and being conscious till almost the last moment, he made all arrangements for his funeral, designating those he wished for pallbearers, where he wished to be buried and other details.

The funeral will take place from the Pfeiffer boarding house, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment being made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

The deceased leaves two sisters, Mrs. Julia Aiken of Hawaii, Mrs. Fred Seymour of Newark, and one brother Attorney B. G. Smythe of Newark.

PAINTERS

At Zanesville Have Settled Their Strike as a Result of Arbitration Sunday.

Zanesville, O., March 9.—The painters' strike which has been in progress for a week has been settled by arbitration, the journeymen and master painters having met each other half way.

The result of the arbitration is perfectly satisfactory to both sides. The entire increase to the men being almost 25 cents a day, whereas they had asked for an increase of fifty cents.

The scale last year was $2.50 a day for nine hours work, with eight hours work on Saturday and nine hours pay. The scale asked this year was $3 a day for the same time. The compromise grants $2.70 a day with street car fare and all expenses while at work out of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Shipley were the recipients of a delightful surprise a few evenings ago, when a number of their friends came in on them unannounced, while the 'Squire was busily engaged in imparting his knowledge of the law. The procession proceeded to enter, headed by R. Dunlap, and were followed by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holcomb, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hatch, Sr., and daughters Lee and Helen, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. DeCrow, Mrs. Hannah Trotter, Mrs. R. Dulap, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hand, Mr. and Mrs. W. Shipley, Messrs. Budd, Shipley, Willie Woodberry, Rolla DeCrow and Miss Ollie Baker. Mr. and Mrs. Shipley were not long in taking in the situation and Mrs. Shipley was ordered to bring out her carpet rags. An elegant lunch was served and a splendid time was had by all who were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McDonald, of Dennison, accompanied by their friend Emmet Sturdevant of Croton, took in a fine lot of lambs here on Tuesday, and Dr. Hatch delivered a fine bunch to L. Robinson, of Utica, on Friday.

"I should be pleased to exchange cards with you, Mr. Barrow," said Charles Willips, extending his. They had met for the first time. "I'm sorry I have no cards with me," said Barrow. "Allow me to write my address in your memorandum book." "Do you know that is a very dangerous thing to do?" Willips remarked. "It cost me $240 once. I had the habit of carrying no cards and signing my name in a new friend's notebook, just as you are about to do in mine, always on a blank page. One day, after a convivial evening, I was presented with an I O U for that sum, duly signed by myself. It was impossible to dispute it. I had to pay up. But I have never since been so free with my autograph." "By George, I never thought of that," cried Barrow. "Suppose you write my name down yourself."—New York Press.

Improving Upon Nature.

"What on earth are you doing in here, Tommy?" asked his mother, peering into the darkness of the henhouse, whence had been coming for five minutes or more a series of dismal squawking, accompanied by a loud flapping of wings.

"I am trying," said Tommy, who seemed to be doing something with a knotted rope, "to fix this roster so his alarm won't go off before 7 o'clock to-morrow morning."—Current Literature.

DEATH

OF MRS. JAMES CLARK FORMERLY NELLIE CHALFANT

Occurred Sunday Night in St. Louis. Married a Few Months Ago—Burial in Newark.

A telegram to Miss Grace Chalfant from James Clarke, received Monday morning, announced the death of his wife which occurred some time Sunday night at their home, 3703 North Ninth street, St. Louis, Mo., after an illness of eight weeks with spinal meningitis.

The deceased was the daughter of Mr. Charles Chalfant, who died just six months ago to the day. She was born in Morgantown, W. Va., twenty-seven years ago, the last fifteen years of her life being spent in Newark, where her cheerful disposition and kindly, considerate manner endeared her to a large circle of friends. For several years she was employed in the large dry goods stores of J. J. Carroll, and H. H. Griggs & Co., where her duties were such that she was thrown into contact with the public to a great extent. Thus her circle of acquaintances was very wide, and no young woman was more highly esteemed or universally popular than Nellie Chalfant.

Just a few short months ago, on August 14, 1902, she was married to James Clark, a tin-plate worker of St. Louis, Mo., and every indication pointed to a life of happiness and success. But this was not to be, and her gentle, loving spirit has gone to join those of her father and sister, who went before.

Mrs. Clark's mother of this city, and her sister, Mrs. Lucy Lelew of Carnegie, Pa., were at her bedside when the end came, and had been there for some time previous to minister to her wants. Another sister, Miss Grace Chalfant, of this city, is also left. The family have the sincerest sympathy of all in this overwhelming sorrow.

The interment will be made in Newark.

Wanted a Dime.

A nondescript individual blew into the Court House today about noon. He wore a red face, a blue flannel shirt, dark trousers and his waist was encircled by a strap. He proclaimed himself the sheriff of Perry county, and said he was on the trail of a criminal, and then tried to touch the various officials for a dime or a quarter, but looking county officials are noted for their caution and refused to "divy" whereupon the stranger wrapped the drapery of his mantle about him and withdrew for other fields more easily worked.

Two Hundred Men Heard Prof. Curry Speak at Taylor Hall on Sunday Afternoon.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon was well attended, more than two hundred men being present to hear Prof. E. W. B. Curry deliver an address on "The Race Problem." In his handling of the subject Prof. Curry showed himself to be not only an orator, but a careful student of human nature. In his address he brought out forcefully both their virtues and their shortcomings. As a remedy for the latter he suggested for his people, education along industrial lines, such as is taught in the school established by Booker T. Washington and The Curry School at Urbana. Professor Curry not only succeeded in making many friends for himself, but also for the cause which he so ably championed.

"Hobson's Choice"

Tobias Hobson was the first man in England who let out hackney horses.

When anyone wished to hire a horse, he was obliged to take the one standing nearest the stable door—he had no selection. Hence the old proverb, so familiar now, was born:

"To elect there is but one—
Tis Hobson's choice—take that or none."

Before the introduction of Uneeda Biscuit buying soda crackers in a paper bag, was like hiring Hobson's horses—there was no choice. In kind and quality there was but one—take that or else take none. Whether stale, soggy, dirty or old—'twas ever the same "Hobson's Choice."

Uneeda Biscuit in In-er-seal Packages have revolutionized this old method and set an example that has received the stamp of public approval, as the sale of over 200,000,000 5 cent packages attest.

The In-er-seal Package insures their quality, cleanliness and crispness, because it is airtight, moisture proof, dust proof and germ proof.
